High Grade Poultry Stock is Now Being Added

BREEDS ARE IN COMPETITION

The Delaware College Experiment Station in co-operation with the University of Wisconsin and the Bureau of Plant Industry has been testing different varieties of cabbage to ascertain their relative resistance to "wilt" or "yellows". Of sixty-eight varieties grown on the Dean Farm, near Newark, during the last season five have been selected and sent to Florida for the production of seed. The selected varieties were: "Large Early Jersey Wakefield", "Very Early Jersey Wakefield", "Early Copenhagen Market", "Market Gardener", "All Seasons".

HIGH GRADE POULTRY STOCK

The Delaware College Farm is importing from Mr. Tom Barren of England twelve Buff Plymouth Rock pullets, which Mr. Barren had reserved for his own use. In addition to these, representative pens of six other breeds have been secured. Honorable O. A. Newton, of Bridgeville, whose pen of birds in the Fourth Egg-Laying Competition now closing, leads all Delaware entries, donated some White Plymouth Rocks. From Captain Ward Daisy, of Frankfort, Delaware were secured a number of Brown Leghorns. Rhode Island Reds and Buff Orpingtons were given by Mr. Barr, of Lancaster. His enthusiasm in promoting the development of these two breeds has pushed them to the front in egg-laying competitions. Mr. A. A. Christian, the owner of Eagle Farm, Greensboro, Md., has given twenty-five white Leghorn Pullets of the same breeding as his wonderful hen, Lady Eagle, which now has a record of 310 eggs in 359 days, in the Fourth Competition. It is the purpose of the College to import a Cockerel from the flock of Mr. Tom Barren to mate with these high class pullets. The College has in the present Competition a pen of Buff Plymouth Rocks and is to have in the next competition a pen of Black Langshans bred by Meyer & Sons of Missouri. Mr. Pollard is mating up pens of these various breeds with the idea of supplying hatching eggs from them. The College has purchased for its own use eight Buckeye Colony Hens for accommodating this breeding stock and the birds will be used for class room and experimental work as well as for the production of eggs for hatching purposes.

DELAWARE BREEDERS IN COMPETITION

Thirteen poultry breeders from the State of Delaware, will have pens of birds entered in the Fifth Philadelphia North American International Egg-Laying Competition, which closes on November 1, 1915. The competition, which closes on October 31, has created a state-wide interest. The work of Mr. Pollard, Superintendent of the competition at Delaware College, in giving information to the breeders of the State, has given a great impetus to the development of Delaware poultry interests. The complete list of the Delaware entries in the Fifth Competition follows: White Plymouth Rocks, O. A. Newton, Bridgeville, Del.; Buff Plymouth Rocks, Delaware College, Newark, Del.; White Wyandottes, James Spiers, Newark, Del.; Thomas Hutt, Delaware City, Del.; S. C. R. L. Reds, M. G. Price, Delaware City, Del.; Black Langshans, Delaware College, Newark, Del.; S. C. INSTRUCTIONS

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 10 a. m., the Bishop will give instructions, in the Church, on The Gospel of St. John.

The public is cordially invited to these Services.

All Saints Day (November 1st.) falls this year on a Monday. That blessed holy day possesses a charm that is all its own. It is the great day on which we are invited to remember our loved dead and to thank God for the good examples of all those, who, having finished their course, do now rest from their labors. As we advance along life's pathway and friends whom we knew and loved in the flesh enter into the spirit world, we think more than ever of the Church Expectant of which they form a part. All Saints makes it appeal to the entire human race. Let us keep the day as the Church would have us and as our hearts suggest.

The Rev. W. H. Groff, of Clayton, Del., for many years connected with the clerical force of the Delaware railroad-chapel at Clayton, and also Deacon-in-charge of Trinity Episcopal Church, Clayton, died on Sunday, aged 65 years. Mr. Groff was ordered Deacon (Perpetual) by the late Rt. Reverend Bishop Coleman, in 1902. He officiated in St. Annes Church as one of the special Preachers during the Lenten Season.

A Clergyman friend of the Rector, has presented to St. Annes Parish, with a green silk Burse and Veil, for the Communion Service. A Book for the Altar Services is badly needed, as the one in use is very much worn. Who wishes to present a new one?

The outlook is bright for another year of splendid activity for both Sunday School and the Auxiliaries work. We are glad to welcome back again in our midst, one who was a most efficient teacher, and who has now assumed the post of Organist in the Sunday School. We are glad to welcome any one in the Societies of the Church, who is willing to assume a definite share of responsibility in work which makes for the efficiency of St. Annes' as an agency for good in the community.

A luncheon to the Bishop, Clergy of the Diocese, and the Vestry of St. Annes Parish, was given under the auspices of the Junior Auxiliary, on Thursday, at one o'clock, at the residence of Mrs. George F. Brady.

The Rt. Reverend Frederick Joseph Kinsman, was consecrated Bishop of Delaware, on St. Simon and St. Jude's Day, October 1908, in Trinity Church, Wilmington.

Five members of the Board of Missions of the Episcopal Church resigned at a quarterly meeting, held on Tuesday of this week, when the Board refused by a vote of 20 to 13 to rescind the resolution adopted last May, to participate in the Panama Interdenominational Missionary Conference, to be held in the City of Panama, in February.

The five members who resigned were Bishop R. H. Weller, Fon du Lac, Wis. Bishop G. Mott Williams, Marquette, Mich., Bishop Alfred Harding, Washington, D. C.; The Rev. Dr. Sheldon P. Delany, Milwaukee, Wis.; and the Rev. Dr. William T. Manning, Rector, of Trinity Parish, New York City.

CALENDAR FOR NOVEMBER

November 1st. All Saints' Day. 7th. The 23d Sunday after Trinity. 14th. The 24th Sunday after Trinity. 21st. Sunday next before Advent. 28th. 1st Sunday in Advent. 30th. St. Andrew, Apostle.

A letter from the Bishop of Mexico has reached the Missions House in New York, brought out of the country by a miner on horseback. Dr. Aves could not of course refer to Mexican affairs but he states that church services continue in some places with fairly good attendance, and that the St. Andrews' School for boys is doing satisfactorily. The Bishop is entirely cut off from the outside world and can only work and wait until better days come.

A "Travelers Party"

A "travelers party" will be given for the benefit of the Club House fund, at the residence of Mrs. G. W. Lockwood, on Saturday evening, November 6th, at 8.30 P. M. NEW CENTURY CLUB

The members of the New Century Club turned out in numbers on Tuesday afternoon to welcome the musicians who had come from a distance for the entertainment of the local club.

A short business meeting preceded the musical. An invitation from the Odessa Woman's club for Thursday, November eleventh, was accepted. Mrs. John Cleaver was named a delegate to the Convention of the American Association for the Study and Prevention of Infant mortality, which convention meets at the Bellevue-Stratford, Philadelphia, on November 10-11-12. Mrs. Cleaver will probably be the only representative from Delaware with the exception of Miss Marie Lockwood who is interested in the work in Philadelphia. Miss Cornelia Townsend and Miss Eliza C. Green will represent the Club in the interest of Arts and Crafts, at the meeting to be held at Newark on Saturday at the Woman's College of Delaware.

The club president, Mrs. Mary Cochran Pool reported twenty-five dollars cleared at the Halloween party held on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. William Green on East Main street.

The delightful musical program included: Piano Solo—McDowell's Polonaise. Mrs. Wallace N. Daniels, of Elkton, Md.; Vocal, "Thou hast bewitched me, Beloved;" (2) "The Robin," Miss Mary Roberts of Smyrna; Instrumental solo—(1) Sous Bois, (2) The Butterfly, Mrs. Marion Coverdale, of Smyrna; Piano solo—Liebestraume—Liszt, Miss Frances Watkins, of Odessa. Dr. H. B. McDowell spoke of the ravages of Hog Cholera and of the methods used during the past three years in combatting the disease.

E. H. Shallcross and F. P. Williams spoke of various plans in making attractive and profitable every Grange meeting, which line of thought was continued by the visitors present, Mr. Henry Thompson of Wilmington, Mr. and Mrs. Evans and Mr. Templeton of Cheswood Grange.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY

A Delightful Affair Given at Mrs. William Green's Residence

BENEFIT NEW CENTURY CLUB

A most delightful Halloween party was given at the home of Mrs. William Green on East Main Street on Monday evening for the benefit of the building fund of the New Century Club. About seventy-five guests were present, all of whom passed an enjoyable evening. The house was profusely decorated with foder, pumpkins and all sorts of Halloween attributes.

An "Aunt Martha" in an up stairs room, was cleverly manipulated by Miss Helen Brady and frightened some of the ladies "stiff".

Cards and other games furnished entertainment during the evening, the fortunate prize winners being Miss Laura Willis, Mrs. Albert Price, James L. Warren, and Taylor Barnett, who was presented with an enormous pumpkin which he will probably make into "punken" pie with which to regale his friends.

The refreshments were appropriate to Halloween.

Some of those present were: Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Pool, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Pool, Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Pool Dr. and Mrs. Harris B. McDowell, Dr. and Mrs. Warren S. P. Railroad Clean-Up Day

Last week was house cleaning time for the Delaware railroad, and all the section bosses and their gangs were busy as bees righting up things preparatory to the inspection which took place last Wednesday, when the large observation car special, filled with the roads officials and a small army of these section bosses, passed over the road.

The Transcript feels sure that no railroad front doorway looked neater and more in perfect ship-shape than our Mr. David Allen's.

No rubbish visible; no dirt or cluttering trash about; no scattered coal or dangerous logs in sight; every chunk of stone in place on the road bed—in fact, Mr. Allen's ballast margins are straighter than the steel rails themselves! If any carpenter hereabouts would like to test the accuracy of his straightedge, we advise stone lines of Mr. Allen's. The Transcript believes and hopes Mr. Allen will win the prize for this year's best kept section of six miles.

We want citizens and merchants to read our ad. in this issue for it discusses an important public question. FOGEL & BURSTAN.

MURDERING A NURSE

The judicial murder of Edith Cavell, the British nurse in Belgium who was tried and convicted on the charge of helping Belgians and English to escape from Brussels, is the foulest spot on the German escutcheon, which has of late become so bloody that it is difficult to make any new stain upon it.

Miss Cavell was a nurse who for a year ministered to the wounded in Brussels, Germans included, without distinction of race. The German claim is that she admitted aiding some of those who fled, but such action did not make her a spy under normal military law, nor does it bring the death penalty, except as new methods of punishment have been devised by the Germans in Belgium who, lost to all sense of justice or humanity, have set up the standard of Prussian Might as the only law in the world.

Even this foul deed could not be carried out misleading foreign Ministers who had interested themselves in the case. Our own Ministers were deceived as was Spain's Ambassador. Nothing in the premises called for the execution of the woman. At most, she deserved only to be kept in confinement. Inside of a few hours she was tried, convicted and executed, while heroic efforts to save her were prevented by lying German officials. This is the supreme exhibit of Prussian Kultur. It is of a piece with a sinking of the Lusitania and the murder of women and children when Belgium was first invaded. There is no excuse for this official act. It was as foul as ever was committed.

The truth is that German inhumanity has exceeded anything the world has ever known or conceived. And we refer to official German acts, and not to the brutality of soldiers acting without orders. If civilization and humanity are in the least dependent on a system originating in Germany, then it were better that the earth explode and all of its elements return to primeval chaos. The murder of the Duke d'Enghien was the blackest spot in the career of Napoleon, but it was brilliancy itself compared with the murder of a woman who had given her life to following the principles and teaching of the meek and lowly Jesus.—Hugh rer.

Miss Anna M. Berry, of Wilmington, spent the week end with her mother and entertained her friends Miss Ida Turner, of Wilmington, and Messrs. Oliver Brunell, of Grand Rapids Mich., and Edmund Graves, of Baltimore, over Sunday.

"THE HEART OF MARYLAND"

Mr. H. S. Newman on next Monday night will add one more to the many delightful treats with which he has favored his audiences, by presenting the now famous scene in six parts, "The Heart of Maryland" with the talented Mrs. Leslie Carter in the leading role.

It is a dashing love story of the late Civil War wherein the heroine Maryland Calvert though herself a Southern sympathizer, after a highly sensational effort saves her lover Alan Shay a Union soldier who had been made prisoner by the Confederates.

The play should possess an especial interest for Delaware audiences since some of the scenes laid in the state of Maryland are familiar to numbers of Delawares.

This is a costly, high-grade film, and Mr. Newman, wishing to give his patrons a taste for the very best in reproducing it here for prices below those in the large cities where it has been all the rage—for 10 and 20 cents! The play is filled with most striking scenes of a very dramatic character, realistic, natural and well acted, and will surely please beyond measure everyone in Middletown fortunate enough to see it, for it has carried the cities by storm. So don't fail to see this moviegame.

The members of the Can and Will Class of Forest Presbyterian Church, will hold a fancy work bazaar and supper in the Sunday school room, on Friday November 6th. Anything donated will be appreciated.

RURAL ROAD WORK

The Department is Offering Good Advice on This Subject

DRAINAGE A GREAT FACTOR

That full value may be received for the money appropriated for road purposes and that the best results obtainable may be secured it is essential that the right man shall be placed in charge of road work. He should be selected not only because he actually knows more about good roads than any other person in the community, but also because he can get the best results from the money furnished. It is not sufficient, however, to let the matter rest with the appointment of a road overseer. He should receive the whole-hearted support of the community in the work. It should be seen to that under the conditions and with the money furnished the community is getting what it has a right to expect in the way of road improvement. It is well to remember that if for any reason an incompetent man is placed in charge of the work the responsibility for failure rests upon the community. There should be no other consideration, therefore, in selecting a road overseer than that of securing a man with the ability to perform the duties required. It should be realized that good roads have much to do with the prosperity of a community and that united action in the right direction is the surest and quickest way to secure them.

DEPARTMENT WILL ASSIST

Where the road overseer has had but little experience in road work, or where some new and difficult problem is presented to the experienced man, the Office of Public Roads and Rural Engineering of the department, when requested, will offer advice and suggestions for carrying on the work and how best to overcome the difficulties.

THREE HOMEMADE KITE REELS.

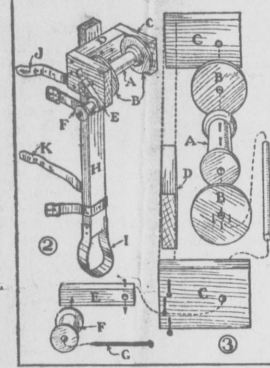

The expert kite flyer is as particular about keeping his flying line in good condition as the fisherman is about his fishing-tackle.

First, let us see how to make the unique reel shown in Fig. 1. With this strapped to your right leg, your hands are free to handle the line. The line can be unwound by pulling it as you pay it out, and reeled up by dropping upon the left knee in the position assumed by the boy shown in Fig. 1.

Fig. 2 shows the completed reel, and Fig. 3 the construction. A large ribbon spool is necessary for the winding drum of the reel (A, Figs. 2 and 3).

The diameter of the spool flanges must be increased by adding pieces of about twice their diameter (B). Bore a hole through the center of the spool hole. The frame in which this winding drum is mounted, consists of two end blocks C nailed to a piece D. Cut D a trifle longer than the winding drum, and blocks C just large enough to accommodate the axle for the winding drum. Bore a hole a trifle larger than the spool hole through blocks C, for the axle, being careful to get the hole in one exactly opposite that in the other. Cut the axle enough longer than the winding drum to project beyond blocks C, one-half inch beyond one, and two inches beyond the other. The crank is made of the strip E, with a hole bored near one end for the axle, and the spool F pivoted near the other end by means of the nail G (Fig. 3). Nail the winding drum and the crank to the long end of the axle.

The upright stick upon which the reel is mounted (H, Fig. 2) should be of the right length to reach from the instep of your foot to your knee (Fig. 1). Nail block D to H (Fig. 2), and then tack three straps to H—loop I to pass around the foot, and straps J and K to buckle around the leg.

The simple hand reel in Fig. 4 has a drum like that in Fig. 3. Make the axle long enough to provide a handle to hold the reel by. This axle must fit loosely so the drum will turn freely

PROPER SELECTION OF FOOD FOR DUCKS

Just Ducks.

(By GEORGE E. HOWARD, United States Department of Agriculture.)

The food of the duck is both vegetable and animal in nature. In the wild state it gathers its food from brooks and marshes, consisting of flag, grasses, small fishes, water insects, etc. When the birds are raised in confinement this diet must, in a measure, be limited to get the most satisfactory results. The duck has no crop, the food passing directly from the throat to the gizzard, and as a consequence the food must be in a soft mushy state. Too much hard food, such as grain, does not agree with these birds and they cannot thrive on it. While some raisers use a small allowance of grain others do not, and it has not been proved to be of any advantage to feed it. Soft food is their natural diet, together with grasses, vegetables and animal food. The proper selection of the food is extremely important to secure the rapid growth of the duck, and the ingredients of the food must be such as will afford a well-balanced and substantial ration. As a whole, it may be said that the rations used by the largest duck raisers are essentially the same, differing only in the quantities used in the mixing. Investigations show the real value of the food to be the same for producing rapid growth and early development. The duckling grows twice as rapidly and is a much heavier eater than the chick, and to produce the best results its food must be such as will be easily assimilated. The various methods of feeding given in this article are recommended for raising ducks successfully.

It costs from 6 to 12 cents a pound to raise a duck for market at ten weeks of age. It costs from $1.75 to $2.50 each to keep breeding ducks a year.

The three different methods of feeding ducks are as follows: (1) Feeding young ducks to be kept as breeders; (2) feeding old ducks. The first method, for the sake of convenience and to explain more fully the composition of the rations, is subdivided into four parts, as follows:

(1) From time of hatching to five days old provide the following mixture: Cracker or bread crumbs and cornmeal, equal parts by measure; hard-boiled eggs, 15 per cent of the total bulk of crackers and meal; sand, 5 per cent of the total of crackers and meal. Mix with water or milk, and feed four times a day.

(2) From five to twenty days old, the following mixture: Wheat bran, two parts by measure; cornmeal, one part; rolled oats, 50 per cent of this bulk; beef scraps, 5 per cent; sand, 5 per cent; green food, 10 per cent. Mix with water to a dry crumbly state and feed four times a day.

(3) From twenty to forty-two days old, the following mixture: Wheat bran, two parts by measure; cornmeal, one part; beef scraps, 5 per cent of this bulk; coarse sand or grit, 5 per cent; green food, 10 per cent. Mix with water to a dry crumbly state and feed four times a day.

(4) From forty-two to seventy days old, the following mixture: Cornmeal, two parts by measure; wheat bran, one part; beef scraps, 10 per cent of this bulk; coarse sand or grit, 5 per cent; green food, 10 per cent. Mix with water to a dry crumbly state and feed four times a day.

The hours for feeding are 6 a. m., 10 a. m., and 6 p. m.

RIGHT BREED FOR BEGINNER. Well-Established, Long-Bred and Popular Varieties Are Best to Attain Greatest Success.

New breeds of poultry are brought out from time to time and with the introduction of each the claims made for their virtues over long-established breeds is calculated to make any beginner feel that he must have the new ones if he is to attain the greatest success.

The fact of the matter is that the new breeds are the ones that the beginner should usually keep away from. They are yet in the making, in a way, and require the skill of the expert breeder to develop into practical, true-to-type fowls.

It is with the well-established, long-bred and popular varieties that the beginner should generally start. The new breeds are no better in any way than the old ones and as a general rule are not nearly so good in a practical way.

Don't get the idea the poultry business is going to be revolutionized every time some new breed is brought out.

ERADICATE LICE AND MITES. Whitewash is Effective Against Vermin—Free Use of Lice Powder Is Always in Order.

The free use of an effective lice powder is always in order in the poultry house.

A dust bath is very essential in riding the fowls of lice. In applying powder hold the fowl by the feet, head down, and work the powder well down into the feathers.

The free use of kerosene on the roosts and in the cracks will exterminate mites.

Whitewash is very effective against vermin.

Loss by Faulty Methods. Forty-five million dollars a year is the loss due to faulty methods of handling on the farm where eggs are not collected frequently and marketed regularly, and because nests are not kept clean and males are allowed to run with the hens in the warm months after the breeding season.

November-Laying Pullets. Pullets hatched in May can be brought to laying by November, if they are properly fed and cared for and crowded as fast as possible. It cannot be done, however, if they are half fed, tormented with lice, short of fresh water or allowed to become stunted for any other reason.

Breeding From Culls. Breeding from inferior specimens will never build up a flock. The old saw: "The best is none too good," should be the slogan of the breeder and fancier.

Fix Up Winter Quarters. Fix up the poultry quarters now so that the flock will be in clean, comfortable and sanitary conditions for the winter. Make the walls airtight and afford good light and ventilation.

Cull Closely. Many farm poultrymen do not cull down their flocks nearly as closely as they should. The chief reason for this neglect is doubtless that on the general farm no account is kept of the feed consumed by the poultry.

Temperature for Hatching. A fertile egg will start to hatch if kept at a temperature of 80 degrees. If kept at a temperature of 100 degrees blood will form in three or four days.

Growth Producer. A good quality of beef scrap is a growth producer for the developing chick.

CULLING FLOCK IN THE FALL

"200-Egg Hens Always Have White Legs at End of Their Pullet Year," Says Professor Barrows.

Trap-nest records with many hundred fowls at the Maine station make it possible to say positively that no bird which has been a heavy layer will have bright yellow legs at the end of the laying season. Prof. H. R. Barrows says that "200-egg hens always have white legs at the end of their pullet year." The yellow coloring matter in the legs and skin seems to be used up in coloring the yolks for so many eggs, and thus the skin and legs bleach out nearly white.

It is worth while knowing this when culling the flock and deciding which pullets to keep over to use as breeders the next year. If the poultryman has no trap-nest records the color of the shanks furnishes him one of the best indications he can have as to the way in which these pullets have laid during their first year of life.

His first selection should always, of course, be on the strength and constitutional vigor, but after having picked out the good, strong, healthy birds he should then choose from among those the ones which show the whitest legs. Poultrymen often make a mistake on this point, frequently practicing just the opposite—that is, picking out carefully those which have yellow legs which are the poorest layers in the flock.

MARKING SYSTEM FOR HENS. Age of Fowls Can Be Determined by Punching Holes in Web When Chick Is Very Young.

A farmer should know to a certainty the age of his hens. This can only be determined by a marking system. A good system of marking is what is known as "web" marking. A small hole is punched in the web between the toes when the chick is very young. This hole never grows up and increases in size as the chick grows larger.

Any number of markings can be made and for this reason it is believed that this system is superior to marking with leg bands, for the reason that unnumbered leg bands can record but two readings.

Fattening Turkeys. Never confine turkeys while fattening. They will only mope around and fast rather than take on flesh if kept penned. Freedom seems to be necessary to their well being, and a certain amount of exercise serves to increase their appetites and keep them growing. Even when finishing them it is best to allow them free range.

Keep Producers Only. The idea is to winter over only the cream of the breeding flock and the winter layers. Look over your flock now and cull it down closely to the producers. Fatten and market the surplus stuff and cut down the feed bill.

Temperature for Hatching. A fertile egg will start to hatch if kept at a temperature of 80 degrees. If kept at a temperature of 100 degrees blood will form in three or four days.

Growth Producer. A good quality of beef scrap is a growth producer for the developing chick.

LATEST FRENCH GOWNS

NEWEST IDEAS OF THE MAKERS OF FASHIONS.

Innovations Set Forth by Worth Have Been Accepted as Setting Forth Styles of Season—For Afternoon and Evening.

An attractive feature in some of the very new gowns is the introduction of trains that hang from the waist. Worth is responsible for this innovation. That house has always liked the ceremonial in clothes, going in strongly for the dignified English effects, as the founder was an Englishman.

The uncle who runs the house is opposed to many of the modern features of clothes; the exploiting of new ideas through manikins at public places was never allowed, and well-known members of the half world were not allowed in the house. When one knows Paris and knows how much courage it required, and monetary loss it involved, to insist upon these eliminations, then one can get a bird's-eye view of the dignity of the house of Worth. It may not have paid, commercially or artistically, but it exists.

Now that the firm has closed its historic London house, the Paris creations may become more eminently French, but, so far, there is no evidence of it. Only America matters now with the makers of clothes, and Worth believes, rightly, that there is a large number of Americans who do not like the modern tendency toward girlishness and frivolity in clothes, especially for those whose youth has gone.

The evening gowns which he advances for this winter have their cascaded trains lined at the sides with satin in a pale color. Someone who wanted a simple gown from which was eliminated the gewgaws that spot the surface of most of the Watteau frocks, asked Worth if he could make it. His answer was a pinkish red velvet without a touch of any other color or trimming on it. The deep décolletage was cut in the English manner.

ner and held over each shoulder by a band of red velvet ribbon, ending in a bow that stood almost to the ears.

It was necessary that the French designers choose chiffon or silk for the best of their afternoon frocks, because they did not have recourse to a variety of fabrics so long as the Germans hold the industrial towns of northern France.

True, Rodier, the fabric maker, put up new mills and went on with his work as though the Germans were in their own country, not his, but France had on hand, and found easy to get, a mass of chiffon, so the fashion was created for frocks of that fabric, and the top coat emphasized an adjunct to them.

These chiffon frocks are in entrancing colors. There is nothing flamboyant. Green that has gray in it, pale purples, yellow, called orangede, crow blue, taupe-a-plenty. Mole-skin is revived to trim the taupe-colored frocks, and seal-skin is here to touch off the gowns of deep brown and pale gray blue.

There are few frocks of heavy materials. They would be unbearable under heavy top coats in this climate, so the woman who wants one good frock that will serve many purposes can be suited easily this season.

Jersey Waists. Silk jersey waists are of bright colors—rose, garnet, light green, royal purple, French blue, and so on. As a rule they are of a military character.

Subterranean green is one of the new colors.

ROUND TABLE LUNCHEON SET. Pretty Idea Has Become Decidedly Popular With the Hostess Who Is Fond of Entertaining.

If you are planning, like King Arthur of old, to preside over a round table in the form of a luncheon party, you will be delighted with the latest design for a luncheon set that fits into the symmetry of a round or oblong table. The centerpiece is round or oval, as your table is round or oblong, and the particular set in question is developed in white linen with Madeira eyelet work in all white. The edges of both centerpiece and doilies are buttonholed rather elaborately. The doilies are not round or square, however, but cut on the order of a rounded triangle, the blunted point to extend toward the center of the table and the corresponding side rounded to follow the outline of the table. The use of such doilies insures a neater-looking luncheon table, besides proving of far more protection to a highly polished wooden surface.

Like men, women are now considering the comfort of their hats. While they do not go so far as men do in having them weighed less than the summer straw shall weigh less than the 12-ounce winter slouch hat, they must have them light in order not to disarrange the hair, for now that it is obligatory in almost all places of amusement for women to remove their hats, it is quite necessary that the arrangement of the hair underneath shall not be crushed and flattened by too heavy a hat.

FOR POLISHING THE RAZOR

Useful Little Article That Will Be Found of Value in Almost Every Household.

It is a common habit with many men to polish a razor with a towel after they have finished shaving with it, and the consequence is the towel often suffers from a number of small cuts. Our sketch shows a useful little article to be used for this purpose in the place of the towel, that can be made in spare moments from almost any small remnants of material, and that can take its place upon the dressing table.

It is made of silk, and bound at the edges with narrow ribbon and lined with soft wash leather. It is cut out in the shape shown in diagram C, and measures six inches in length and three inches in width when spread out quite flat. It folds together in the center in the manner shown in diagram B, and diagram A shows the way in which it can be used to wipe the razor.

For appearance sake, some simple little design such as suggested in the sketch can be worked upon the exterior, and should it be desired to hang it up it is an easy matter to sew on a small loop of ribbon at one corner. A similar case to hold tissue paper about the same size should also be at hand so that the razor can be wiped before being polished.

DICTATES OF FASHION

Wool embroidery and odd fur trimmings are features.

Many coats are high waisted either in back or front.

Broad-striped coatings are worn for sports over white dresses.

Vests and pocket flaps give a suggestion of Louis XVI fashions.

Jersey scarfs in wide stripes are used about the neck and as girdles with white morning frocks.

Sleeves on some of the new evening frocks are no more than little ruffles, sometimes of tulle edged with beads and sometimes held out with a flexible wire at the lower edge.

The same idea may well be carried out in the crêponne, the colored buttonhole or crocheted-edged lines sets.

Considering Comfort. Like men, women are now considering the comfort of their hats. While they do not go so far as men do in having them weighed less than the summer straw shall weigh less than the 12-ounce winter slouch hat, they must have them light in order not to disarrange the hair, for now that it is obligatory in almost all places of amusement for women to remove their hats, it is quite necessary that the arrangement of the hair underneath shall not be crushed and flattened by too heavy a hat.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

The world is mine oyster which I with sword will open—Shakespeare.

Dr. C. L. Alaberg in a recent address made the following statement: I could wish that the number of dangerous sources of milk supply were as small, and that the percentage of pure, wholesome milk were as great, as the proportion of wholesome, fresh oysters that reach our tables.

FRIED OYSTERS.

Dip oysters into the beaten yolk and white of egg, then into crisp cracker crumbs. Fry in deep fat until they are golden brown. Garnish with sliced lemon.

Chicken and Oysters.—Melt 4½ tablespoonsful of butter, add four table-spoonsful of flour and stir until well blended, then pour on gradually while stirring constantly 1½ cupsful of milk. Bring to the boiling point and season with half a teaspoonful of salt and an eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper. Add two cupsful of boiled chicken meat cut in cubes, add a pint of oysters cleaned and drained. Cook until the oysters are plump. Pour over squares of buttered toast, with finely chopped celery for garnish.

Oysters With Bacon.—Allow one-half dozen oysters for each person to be served. On thin steel skewers run a slice of bacon, then an oyster, and so on until all are used, serving one skewer to each person. Lay the skewers on a rack in a baking pan and cook in a hot oven for about five minutes. Under the gas flame is an ideal place to cook them. Have ready some slices of toast, place a skewer on each slice and pour some of the gravy from the pan over the oysters.

Creamed Oysters.—Place two table-spoonsful of butter in a saucepan; when melted add two table-spoonsful of flour, add a cupful and a half of milk and oyster liquor, or all milk, cook until smooth, then add a few drops of lemon juice, salt and pepper to season. Pick over the oysters to be sure there are no shells, scald the oysters in their own liquor and add to the sauce. Heat until thoroughly hot, then serve on hot buttered toast.

Raw oysters serve with lemon juice, salt and pepper or with horseradish, salt and pepper. Tabasco sauce, tomato catchup are always good accompaniments to raw oysters. Serve in crushed ice in lemon cups the sauce in the center and the oysters and the half-shell surrounding it.

Methods are many, principles are few. Methods may vary, principles never do.

WHAT TO HAVE FOR DINNER.

The planning of meals is worth thought if we furnish our tables with a variation from day to day.

Banana Soup.—Select six ripe bananas and rub them through a sieve, adding twice as much cold milk, sweeten to taste, add a pinch of salt, the grated rind of a lemon and place it on the stove. When the boiling point is reached, add two table-spoonsful of cornstarch, mixed smooth in a little cold milk and stir into the boiling mixture. Cook for eight minutes, stirring all the time. Remove from the heat, cool and add two table-spoonsful of strained lemon juice. Serve well chilled in bouillon cups.

Parisian Peas.—Melt two table-spoonsful of butter in a saucepan, add a quart of green peas, mix well, then pour in enough boiling water to barely cover them. Add salt and pepper to taste, the heart of a head of lettuce, finely minced, one-half of an onion, chopped fine, and a sprig of parsley minced. Simmer until the peas are tender, then stir in the yolks of two well beaten eggs, taking from the heat. Return to the fire and simmer until ready to serve.

Cheese Balls.—Chop fine eight olives, six radishes, two green peppers. Mix with two rolls of Neuf-châtel cheese and mold into balls the size of a walnut. Serve two of these balls with a salted water and a piece of celery on each plate.

Chicken Southern Style.—Clean and prepare the fowl as for frying. Roll the pieces in seasoned flour and place in a heated pan with three table-spoonsful of butter. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and pour a half cupful of cream over all. Cover and place in a hot oven to bake until tender. Remove the cover before taking from the oven to brown the chicken. Serve with a highly seasoned tomato sauce.

One may combine almost any fruit or vegetable into an appetizing salad, but too many colors in one salad are not pleasing.

Secrets to Be Guarded. To tell our own secrets is generally folly, but that folly is without guilt; to communicate those with which we are intrusted is always treachery, and treachery for the most part combined with folly.—Johnson.

Conditional Forgiveness. Governor—"You must forgive your little brother before you go to bed. You might die in the night." Thomas (reluctantly)—"Well, I'll forgive him tonight, but if I don't die he'll better jolly well look out in the morning."

When to Worry. "The hoop skirt is surely coming," says a fashion note, but we refuse to worry until lace cuffs for men are ordered.—Detroit Free Press.
